Hübner Management Consulting

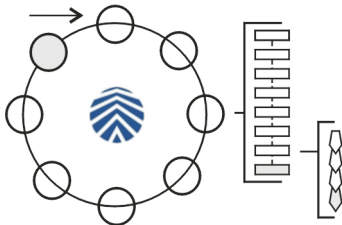

We about us

Huebner Management Consulting is located in the metropolis of Chinese business – Shanghai. This city has the lead in hardly every branch. Due to its stabile business environment, which is based on international standards, Shanghai is preferred from foreign as well as from Chinese investors. The central position of Shanghai makes it possible for us to act also very efficient and fast on other important places in China.

The registration of our company in the commercial register as company limited come in to action on November 2000. The office of our company is directly at the Yan'an Elevated Road, in one of Shanghai's new business buildings, named Summit Centre. The own experience has shown that this kind of service only full fill the customers need if your are present at the place of action. This logical concept, the offered expertise and the advantage of our position are the key points of our success.

Willing power, highest quality demand, absolutely secrecy and most possible identification with our customer are our basic tools to develop the business. Our financial independence and avoidance of cooperation and other business connections guarantees a complete independent consulting. The development of our business is linked to our customers need. Growth means for us to grow through your own success.

Our company is more concerned with quality than with quantity.

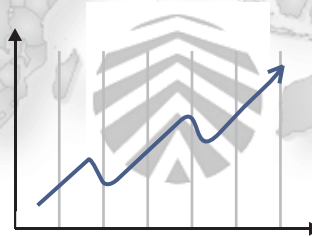

Quality

With help of a steadily growing and stable process management we have been able to go the step to a modern and innovative consulting company with a direct internal communication system and an efficient process flow structure. Basing on a consequent and successive quality management we strive for the full satisfaction of our client's needs.

The continuous improvement, evaluation and assimilation of our internal process charts is a main part of our concept and also a direct competitive advantage in the fast growing and everchanging Chinese market.

The focus of all our activities is the highest level of satisfaction of our clients needs.

Advantages

Experiences from a long-term, very successful work in the field of executive search in China with prior hands-on working experiences in executive management positions in China.

Presence in the market: We focus on our key competence executive search in China. At any time and phase of the search projects we have the control over the further development. Client intentions can be directly executed in the market.

Consultation and support during unstable situations and on critical points in the search process or on the environment of positions especially after the presentation of candidates until the conclusion of a contract.

We accompany the implementation of the candidate and his family at the place of assignment.

Knowledge of psychological structures of Chinese candidates and the situation of expatriates in China.

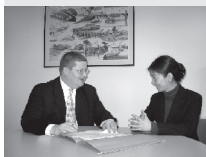

Our services are completely free from other business interests. We are able to invoice in Renminbi Yuan.

We are a small and highly specialised team, which is able to serve clients very flexible and customer oriented.

Philosophy

Sensitivity for clients needs, the reflexion of the real market situation, strict confidentiality in handling of information and documents, professionalism, reliability and patience in work are our highest premises. We are striving for sustainable benefits for our clients. Therefore we align all our activities with the clients' expectations and the opportunities in the Chinese market. Our consulting focuses on the perfect match between candidates and clients.

This is our dedication. Therefore we are standing with our name.

Executive Search China

Executive search in China is the vocational skill of our core team since many years. Our team knows the influences on career development in China and is familiar with the psychological aspects and structures of Chinese economy and society, particular in current and future market trends. Communication is one of our strength in executive search.

Our ability to analyze and to judge motivations and characters of possible candidates (locals or expatriates), our routine in purposeful executive search and our sensibility for the Chinese behavior patterns are our prime success factors.

The search for positions take place in projects, which we structure business conventional. Goal of every search is as a matter of course the conclusion of a contract with the future position holder and the successful start of his occupational activity in the client company.

As a respectable personal consulting company all project parts are done by our own company. Therefore we can provide high quality, confidentiality in the relations to our clients and customers and last but not least: A honest and correct reporting in the current project progress.

We accept assignments only from companies, not from candidates. The standard rules corresponding to our business are the base of our work (They can be viewed at: <http://www.aesc.org>).
